PARKER'S DECISION AT TOLEDO. Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6.—The contest for control of the Ohio Legislature is considered ended to-day. The official counting in some counties will continue next week, but there has been such close watching that no material changes are expected. The indisations are that the Senate will stand 19 Democrats and 17 Republicans, and the House 51 Democrats and 58 Republicans, with a majority of five Republicans on joint ballot. There may be several contested seats, but these cannot be considered till the Legislature meets, the first Monday in Jan-

Since it seems to be settled that the Republicans have a small majority on joint ballot, the rumors are revived of a combination of certain Republican members with the seventy Democratic members for the election of some one other than Senator Hanna the joint ballot. When Senator Forsker was Indorsed by the Republican State Convention two years ago for his present place in the Senate, there was no Legislative caucus. It is announced now that there will be a Republican Senatorial caucus when the Legislature convenes next January. Senator Hanna was indorsed at the last State vention for the Senate, but the old factional fight that formerly existed between Sherman and Forater's following, and, later, between the friends of McKinley and Foraker, has been revived this year with more intense feeling than heretofore. It is said that there are about a dozen of the Repub-lican members who had some factional opposition in their counties, especially for their nominations, who do not feel kindly toward the junior Ohio Senator.

who do not feel kindly toward the Junor OntoSenator.

There has been so much talk of combines that it is certain that the Republicans will hold a joint caucus for the nomination of a candidate for Senater, and Senator Hanna will no doubt be the cauter, and Senator Hanna will no doubt be the cauter, and Senator Hanna will no doubt be the cauter, and senator Hanna will no doubt be the cauter some, there will be no trouble about his election, as none of the Republican members would refuse, under the circumstances, either to enter the caucus or to support its nominee. There are some Republicans who are not members of the Legislature who are said to be working for an anti-Hanna combine, but none of the members are known to favor such a movement.
Governor Bushnell will have a Democratic Senate on which to depend for the confirmation of his appointments, and no partisan legislation can be passed.

appointments, and no partisan legislation can be passed.

In addition to watching the official counting, the representatives of candidates are out in the counties, seeing the members-elect for support for the offices at the organization of both branches, and the Senatorial question will enter largely into the organization of both branches, as well as into the cases of contested seats.

"The Dispatch" to-day prints an interview with Allen O. Myers, of the Democratic State headquarters, in which Mr. Myers says:

"I stand to-day where I stood the day after the elections with Judge Nash, chairman of the Republican State Committee, who says the Senate will be seventeen Republican and nineteen Democrats, and the House fifty-eight Republicans and fifty-one Democrats, giving the Republicans a majority of five on joint ballot for United States Senator.

Mr. Myers, in the report, does not say directly, but intimates that nothing will come of the efforis to get up contests in the Lexislature.

Judge Parker holds that the functions of the Judge Parker holds that the functions of the Board of Elections are simply ministerial; that they must certify to the vote as they find it, without going behind the returns; that the question as to whether the provisions of the law were not compiled with in having the polling booth outside the boundaries of Centre Township precinct, and whether, if so, it invalidates the ballots there cast, must be decided by the courts or by the Legislature itself.

MARYLAND'S NEXT LEGISLATURE.

MANY CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDING OFFICERS MR. WELLINGTON FAVORS MR. GARY FOR SENATOR.

Baltimore, Nov. 6 (Special).-There are a number of candidates in the field for presiding officers of the two houses of the new Republican Legislature. W. Cabell Bruce, an anti-Gorman Democrat, was president of the State Senate at the last session. This time it will probably be Senator Norman B. Scott, jr., chairman of the Republican State Com-The other candidates for the honor are Mashington Wilkinson, of St. Mary's County; A. Lincoln Dryden, of Somerset, and John Wirt Randall, of Anne Arundel County. Congressman Mudd was the Speaker of the last House. It was through his influence that Mr. Wellington was elected United States Senator, and he will have enough friends in the incoming Legislature to make him a leading figure in the contest over the successor to Mr. Gorman. The leading cancidates for Speaker of the House are Benjamin Turner, of Baigmore city; James Campbell, of Allegheny, and Colonel John Rouzer, of Frederick.

Senator Wellington will, it is said, take part in the contest over the new Senator. His friends say that he will be able to control twenty-one, and probably twenty-four, votes in the Assembly, and it is generally believed that he will influence them to vote for Postmaster-General Gary for Senator. dall, of Anne Arundel County. NATURALIZATION FRAUDS CHARGED.

THREE CLERKS IN PHILADELPHIA COURTS AR-RESTED AND OTHERS UNDER SUSPICION.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.-Eugene Lindsay, a clerk in the office of the prothonotary of Common Pleas Court; John A. Merrick, assistant clerk of the United States Circuit Court, and Richard W. Merrick, father of the latter and also a clerk in the United States Circuit Court, were arrested to-day, charged with issuing fraudulent naturalization papers. They had a preliminary hearing, and, waiving examina tion, gave ball in $2,500 for a further hearing on Tuesday next. The warrant of arrest charged the men with issuing fraudulent papers admitting certain persons to citizenship and with using the seal of the Government of the United States for such fraudulent purposes.

Although for some time past there had been hints of probable arrests for alleged fraudulent naturalization, the arrests of the men named cause naturalization, the arrests of the men named caused a mild sensation in political and official circles. It is expected that other arrests will be made on Monday. United States District Attorney Beck, as a result of rumors that fraudulent naturalization papers were being issued, has, with the aid of two Secret Service agents, been quietly conducting an investication, which ended this morning in the arrest of the three clerks. The men all bore good characters, and John A. Merrick has been in the service of the United States court for over twelve years. Mr. Beck declined to say how many others are implicated.

METHODIST CHURCH EXTENSION WORK.

THE GENERAL COMMITTEE WILL ASK THE CON-FERENCES FOR $100,000 THIS YEAR.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.-The annual session of th General Committee of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church closed with to-day's session. It was decided to ask for $100,000 from the conferences this year for church extension, and also that 20 per cent of the amount received from the conferences should be held in the treasury as an emergency fund and for office expenses. A resolution was adopted urging the pastors and quarterly conference committees to provide early in each conference year for a separate presentation of the cause of church extension, with separate colleccause of church extension, who application from tions at the time.

Some discussion was had of the application from Ada, Ohio, for a contribution of 25,000 for a courch to be built there, which will cost $17,000. Notwithstanding the rule by which no aid con be given for the erection of a church costing more than $10,000, it was finally agreed that Ada should receive as much as stands to the credit of the Central Ohio Confer-

The matter of settling the amounts to be granted to the different conferences proved too great a task for the General Committee to wrestle with, and the work was finally assigned to a special committee composed of Dr. Kynett, Bishop Fowler, Messrs, Jackson, Carter and Thompson, of the conference districts, and Garrett, McDowell and Higgins, of the Board. It was ordered that the amounts standing to the credit of the conferences this year be regarded in the nature of preferred claims.

A YARN OF A SEA SERPENT.

NARRATED BY THE VERACIOUS SKIPPER OF THE GOOD SHIP CHALLENGER.

This is not a sea serpent story of the ordinary for it lacks the usual extraordinary embellishments. Not only is it devoid of freakish incidents, but an expert microscopic examination of its smallest details has failed to reveal in it any large amount of humor. While telling it yesterday its author, Captain Gold, of the American ship Challenger, which arrived here yesterday from San Francisco, sat before a table in a Southst, saloon with an incredulous company of longshoremen about him. His left eye during the recital seemed afflicted with a species of nervous twitching. According to this sait, his good ship was rolling lazily about in a heavy sea swell "off the coast of South America" (the swells are always heavy in a sea serpent story), the sun was boring holes through the decks with its hot rays and everything was as still as could be. couldn't have been any stiller, the captain said. The only sound was the occasional creak of a boom or the intermittent clicking of thoughts generated by the captain in preparing his tale. This is the

The captain had just come up from below. The second mate was with him. He cast his eye aloft, He looked to windward; he looked to leeward. Vast and vaster stretched the oily sea. (The sea must be good and oily in a sea serpent story.) While the capiain gazed his experienced eye, possibly the one with the nervous twitching, was held at pause by something stretched for miles along the surface of the water. This was the sea serpent. It was thirty feet away. It was drab in color, had two purple eyes; its head was like a bucket. When it saw the nervous twitching of the capitain's eye, it said to itself. "Here is a kindred spirit," and it, too, slyly winked. As the ship got abreast of it, the monster raised its head. It reared aloft, some say thirty and others one hundred and thirty fathoms. Now, the manner of his head-raising was not threatening. It seemed to be merely a kindly recognition, inviting the good ship to come on. But the ship had no headway. Slowly in disguist the monster snake on the oily sea sank back, closed its eyes and peacefully slumbered.

Then the Chalienger hastened to New-York. He looked to windward; he looked to lee-

TO SECURE HOME RULE FOR ALASKA.

A MOVEMENT STARTED AMONG PACIFIC COAST MERCHANTS.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.-Karl Kohler, a merchant of Juneau, Alaska, has been in conference with a number of members of the Board of Trade and number of members of the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce, with a view of enlisting their aid in securing for Alaska a more stable form of government than it now possesses. Mr. Kohler's object is to obtain the assistance of the various commercial organizations on the Pacific coast in the movement to ask Congress to provide a system of home rule for Alaska. He is confident that united action will secure the desired result.

MANY STILL BOUND FOR THE KLONDIKE. Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6 -Of the seventy-five persons departing for Alaska on the steamship Alki, over forty were bound for the Klondike. While there has been a falling off within the last sixty days in Klondike travel, the fact remains that the various steamship lines are still doing a good business. The Pacific Coast Steamship Company has added the Corona to its Alaskan fleet, this vessel taking the place of the steamer City of Mexico, which was sunk last summer.

FOR A RAILROAD OVER WHITE PASS. Portland, Ore., Nov. 6 -Articles of incorporation f the Skaguay and Lake Bennett Tramway Company have been filed in the office of the County pany have been filed in the office of the County Clerk. The incorporators are Henry E. Batti, Ens-ley A. Webster, Henry C. Ash and George H. Dur-ham. The capital stock is $250,000. The objects of the company are to build and operate a railroad or tramway from Skaguay, Alaska, over White Pass.

STEAMSHIPS FOR THE ALASKAN LINE. Philadelphia, Nov. 6.-The announcement that a been organized, with Charles H Cramp as president, to carry passengers from the Pacific coast to the Alaskan gold fields has reelved an interesting supplement in the statement that four of the boats to be used are the steamships Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, of the American Line, which have been sold to the new company. With these goes the Red D Line steamship Valencia, also built by the Cram; s, which has been sold by her owners, Boulton, Bliss & Dallett, to the same syndicate for $50,000. four ships of the American Line referred to were built by the Cramps and commissioned in 1872 and 1873. They are 35; feet long, 43 feet beam, with a depth of 24 feet. They have recently been plying between this city and Liverpool. When they are withdrawn for the Pacific coast trade it is under-stood that they will be replaced by larger vessels, to be built by the Cramps.

FIELD SPORTS AT GEORGETOWN COLLEGE. Washington, Nov. 6.-The annual fall intercollegiate athletic meet, held here to-day under the auspices of Georgetown College, resulted in no National records being broken, but was interesting throughout. Bernard Wefers made his first public appearance this fail and won in the short-distance spurts as he pleased. He did his one hundred yards in ten seconds without exerting himself in the least. A feature of the meet was the presence of Robert Garrett, of Johns Hopkins, an old Princeton man, who was the captain of the team which took part in the Olympian games at His work with the discus was the most scientific and expert ever seen here. His oppo-nents were Bernard Wefers, Michael Walsh, Scholl and others, but they were not in his class and he won by at least twenty feet. Walsh covered 22 feet 1 inch, in the running broad jump, and broke the Georgetown College record, made by himself.

TOO DEEP FOR WORDS.

From The Chicago Tribune.

The canvasser with the patent adjustable flatiron heater had talked for fifteen minutes without a break when the woman of the house interrupted him by producing a small card and lead pencil and remarking in a calm, emotionless way:

"I haven't heard a word you have said. Please write it on this."

He looked at the card, gasped once or twice, and went away with his lips moving nervously, but no sound issuing from them.

NO REASON TO HANG BACK. From The Cleveland Leader.

"Come and take lunch with me to-day," said one business man to another.
"I can't. I've an appointment."
"Can't you break it?"
"No, a man has promised to come to my office at noon and pay me some money."
"Oh, then that's all right. I'll order the lunch for two. He won't come."

HEAVY HORSE SHOW ENTRIES.

THE MANAGERS SURE THAT THE EXHIBI-TION WILL EQUAL FORMER

SUCCESSES. It is now practically certain, the managers of the Horse Show think, that the thirteenth annual exhibition, which opens on Monday of next week in Madison Square Garden, will prove fully as interesting as have any of its predecessors. The number of entries-1.20-exceeds that of last year by one hundred, and, although several well-known exhibitors will be absent, yet their places will be taken by others with equally valuable exhibits. The most notable absentce will be O. H. P. Belmont, but his horses, which he has sold, will nevertheless be shown by their new owners. Colonel Kip is back again with his celebrated roadsters, which will researily bring out all the talent in that class for

The thoroughbred class will be light, for the rea-son that most of the owners are Southerners, and do not care to send their animals on a long rail-The entries in the backney class have also fallen off, the prizes offered apparently failing to attract breeders. For the challenge cups in the championships all are post entries. Among the racing stallions will be Burlingame, Keeler, King Rene, jr., and Dare Devil. In the class for stallions of any age in harness will be Silvery Wisebourne, Warren Wood, Wickliffe and Judge Weston. Among the horses which have shown 2:30 or better may be noted Sillikon. 2:134; Hattle R., 2:174; Alice Leyburn, 2:294; Rival, 2:204; San Pedro, 2:114; Alice Leyolin, 7:294; Idval, 2:204; San Pedro, 2:114; Emoleta, 2:214; Addie Les II, 2:234; and May K. 2:214. The herd prize for trotters has drawn out The herd prize for trotters has drawn out Chimes, Island Wilkes, Alfonso and Quartermaster, while the breeding classes for trotters show a material increase in the number of entries over last year. It is, however, the class for Lamesa horses which attracts the greatest attention. The entries this year include the names of Elbridge T. Gerry, John Robinson, S. O. Vanderpoel, E. D. Jordan, John Jacob Astor, J. Clinch Smith, G. E. Hulme, J. Ruppert, fr. Mrs. J. Pulltzer, J. E. Widener, F. G. Rourne, R. F. Carman, W. L. Elkins, Mrs. Francis Lee Morrell, Mrs. T. WAR ON FRAUDULENT CONCERNS.

THE WORK DONE BY ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GEN-Washington, Nov. 6 .- James N. Tyner, Assistant

orney-General for the Postoffice Department, n his annual report to Postmaster-General Gary urges that the management of the prosecution for offences against the postal laws should be undertaken by his office, as at present. During the fiscal year 244 fraud orders under the amended lottery were issued. Sixty-four were subsequently revoked, most of the persons having abandoned the business. The courts have construed the lottery aws strictly and have held them all to be constiinvestment, mutual fraudulent schemes. Upon the decease of the Loustana Lottery in this country, it appeared in a rehabilitated form in Honduras, and conducted a feeble business, mainly by the aid of express companica. Other kindred concerns, operating under the sanction of law in their respective countries doing business here through the international mails, and have succeeded to a limited extent. The Dingley act, in prohibiting the printing of lottery tickets, and the Postmaster-General's regulations tickets, and the Postmaster-General's regulations as to transportation in the mails seemed to supply the only remaining means to prevent the spread of the lottery evil from other countries into this."

Further recommendations are for provision by law for the bonding direct to the United States of Assistant Postmasters-General, cashiers and all other officers and employes in postoffices of the first three classes who have the custody of or who the country of the consideration of claims on account of losses resulting from other causes than fire or burglary or money lost in transit, the law be amended by striking out the words "unavoidable casualty" and substituting from or contributed to by fault or negligence of the postmuster," or words of similar import.

DIPLOMATIC AFFAIRS CONSIDERED.

THE PRESIDENT AT WORK ON HIS MESSAGE-WHITE HOUSE CALLERS.

Washington, Nov. 6.-President McKinley gave considerable attention to diplomatic matters to-day. John A Kasson, who is negotiating the reci-procity treaties; John W. Foster, who is repre-senting the United States on the Behring Sea Commission, and Assistant Secretary Day were at the white House at different times. The President is preparing preliminary notes for his first message, and is consulting with Mr. Day on matters which relate to foreign affairs. Judge Day has read the Spanish reply, and briefed the most important features, which he has laid before the President. Senator Deboe and Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, of Kentucky, saw the President to-day, and it was agreed that E. T. Frank should be appointed Col-ector of Internal Revenue for the Owensboro Dis-lector of Internal Revenue for the Owensboro District. Dr. Hunter expects to be appointed Minister to Guatemaia in a few days.

There was an unusually large number of people at the White House, all anxious to see the President. The South was especially well represented, there being delegations from Texas, Masissippi, Florida and other States.

The President is much concerned over the reports that many persons are in a starving condition in Alaska, and it is probable that the matter will be fully discussed at the next Cabinet meeting. Secretary Alger saw the President, but not alone on the Alaska matter. The Secretary says that the only thing the Government can do now is to formulate a plan and make a recommendation to Congress asking for an appropriation, as it has no money or ships at its disposal to purchase and send supplies to the Alaskan sufferers.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Senator Platt, of Con-necticut, and Representatives Russell and Evans, members of the special committee appointed to consider the means of executing the law relative to the use of alcohol in the arts, have arrived in Washington, and a brief meeting was held in the Capitol to-day. The committee has been pursuing its inquiry in Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati and is one its way to New-York, where a meeting will be held about next Thursday at the Murray Hill Hotel. Representative McMillan left the party at St. Louis, but is expected to join the other members at New-York. The purpose in coming to members at New-York. The purpose in coming to Washington was to precure certain statistical matter which had been called for from the Internal Revenue Bureau, but this was not complete and will be furnished later at New-York.

Senator Platt said that the inquiry was proceeding well, and expressed confidence in being able to report to Congress within ten days of the beginning of the next session. LIBEL SUIT BY DR. STOECKER FAILS. Neunkirchen, Rhenish Prussia, Nov. 6.-The libel action brought by Dr. Stoecker, the former Court Chaplain and Christian Socialist leader, against Baron Halberg-Stumm, the German Conservative leader, who had charged the former with gress misrepresentation, has resulted in the defendant's acquittal, on the ground that his attack was justi-fied under the paragraph of the Penal Code relat-ing to the protection of legitimate interests against the attacks of Christian Socialists. IN HONOR OF JUDGE DALY.

A DINNER FOR HIM AT THE CATHOLIC

MANY TRIBUTES TO HIS PERSONAL CHARACTER AND TO HIS JUDICIAL ABILITIES.

Justice Joseph F. Daly, who has four times been elected president of the Catholic Club, and has done much to further the interests of that organization, was honored last night by his fellowmembers. They tendered to him a complimentary dinner, which was laid in the assembly hall of the clubhouse, in West Fifty-ninth-st. Joining with the members of the club in this testimonial to the Justice were some of the most prominent of the judiciary of this city, and of the members of the New-York bar of the Catholic Church, and of many admiring friends that the guest of honor has drawn to him during his long public career. The hand-some room was prettily decorated with foliage and flowers, while upon the covering of the menu appeared a photograph of Judge Daly.

O. P. Buel, the first vice-president of the club, presided. On his right sat the guest of the evening, while Mayor Strong was on the immediate left of the chairman. D. J. O'Conor, When Justice Daly entered the hall he was greeted with the utmost cordiality by the company and again after the dinner, when Mr. Buel rose and alluded to the purpose for which they had gathered, the cheering was renewed. Dwelling first ipon Judge Daly's efforts on behalf of the Catholi-Club, Mr. Buel said the club was formed for the uniting in social intercourse of men of a common faith, and to promote the interests of their church the development of those objects Judge Daly

Choate and William B. Hornblower, who were, unfortunately, unable to be present. THE CLUB NEVER MORE PROSPEROUS. Stephen Farrelly, in speaking of the action of the members in arranging the complimentary din-ner for Judge Daly, said they had been animated by a desire to pay some tribute of honor to a man who more than any other in recent years had aided the progress and advancement of the club and the purposes for which it stood, "Nobody can more hearfily," he said, "express wishes for Judge Daly's long life than those who have been associated with him in the administration of this club for the last four years. We have found in him a perfect gentleman, and one who has won the

tion of a gentleman, a man of religious toleration

Edward J. McGuire spoke in a similar laudatory strain, his references to Judge Daly being frequently cheered, and he was followed by John J. Rooney, who read a poetic eulogy, composed by Surrogate Arnold, a friend of Judge Daly's from boyhood, was next introduced, and in the course of an extremely bright speech gave some reminiscences of Judge Daly's early life, describing his youthful character. Mr. Arnold said his friend was always tactful, affectionate, religious, yet tolerant of the folbles and weaknesses of the whom he was acquainted, but ever appreciative of merits he saw in others. "The time came, tinued Mr. Arnold, "when it became necessary for us to go out into the world. I went into law, but Daiy said one day when I met him, 'I'm going into a soft thing.' He went into the wool business, (Laughter.) But he did not remain in that long. It was not long afterward when he came to me and said:

It was not long afterward when he came to me and said:

"I have given up the wool trade, and I want to get into some business that will give me an even chance of doing something honest." (Laughter.) I was enabled to introduce him to my friend, Robert B. Roosevelt, and Daly then began the study of law in Mr. Roosevelt's office."

His remembrances of Judge Daly. Mr. Arnold concluded, were among the most precious of his carly life, and his friends later record, which belonged to the people, had been pure, able and industrious, while upon the judicial bench he had in the discharge of his duties no superior, and very few equals.

the discharge of his duties he superior, few equals, few equals.

Robert B. Roosevelt, who followed, had also much to say of the admirable traits Judge Daly had always shown from the moment their friendship began. Proceeding to comment upon the ability and honesty of purpose their guest has consistently manifested. Mr. Roosevelt described Judge Daly's rapid rise in his office, from a clerk until the time when he succeeded to his (Mr. Roosevelt's) practice.

Speaking on behalf of the bar, Franklin Bartlett attested to the "purest integrity, absolute impartiality, and wide familiarity with the practice of law and procedure even to the finest technicality" displayed by Judge Daly in his adjudication of cases brought before him. Auston G. Fox paid similar tributes to Judge Daly's fairness as a Judge. Eloquently and in gracful language, William Winter, who was next called upon by Mr. Buel, alluded to his friendship with Judge Daly, which had extended over thirty years. Mr. Winter closed an address that frequently drew prolonged applause from his hearers by reading a poem composed by himself.

Speeches were also heard from other guests, and then Judge Daly, with much feeling, returned his thanks, and acknowledged with happy words the many compliments and tributes which had been given him. He would ever remember the occasion, he said, and was grateful for the spirit which had inspired the assemblage in his honor.

The hour at which Justlee Daly spoke was so late a one that it is impossible to print his remarks at length.

REAL ESTATE MAN CHARGES PERSECUTION

Frank B. Walker, secretary of the firm of Petty, Soulard & Walker, real estate agents, of No. 158 Broadway, appeared in the Centre-st. police court yesterday to answer to the complaint of Max Meyer, of Philip & Meyer, lawyers, of No. 129 Broadway, who asked that Mr. Walker be put under bonds to refrain from doing him bodily harm. D. P. Mahoney appeared for Walker. Meyer is the lawyer for Walker's former wife, and said that when he went to Walker's office to demand the payment of almony Walker threw him out, and had since threatened to assault him. Walker said he was abused by Meyer, and he pushed the latter out of his office after he refused to go. Meyer's firm had persecuted him for three years, beginning as soon as he married again, Walker said. His divorced wife arranged with the lawyers to bother him as much as they could, Walker said, although it had been agreed that no alimony was to be paid to her. He was, however, compelled by the lawyers to pay alimony, and if he was a day behind he would be served with a court order. Magistrate Mott adjourned the case until Tuesday.

Assemblyman-elect Francis E. Laimbeer, of the XXVIIth Assembly District, and J. A. The Assemblymen are numerous enough to hold the balance of power in the Legislature, and although they will stand firm to defeat the alms of Platt, they will work in the interest of Republican principles.

They did not adjourn until early this morning. The names of the Brooklyn men present were withheld, as it was believed that it would be detrimental to the plans made to make the names public at this time.

It was said that besides the Assemblymer elect from Brooklyn at the meeting there were several Republican Senators of Brooklyn, who will work in union with the others. A plan of campaign against Plattism was discussed, but not definite line of action was decided upon.

This will be done at another meeting, to be held in Brooklyn this week.

A PROBABLE MURDER BY THIEVES.

FOUR HOLD UP A MAN IN TENTH-AVE., ROL HIM AND FRACTURE HIS SKULL.

Another hold-up, which may result in murder occurred at 1:20 o'clock this morning in front of No. 772 Tenth-ave., between Fifty-second and Fifty-third sts. James Rooney, of No. 570 Tenth-ave., is the victim, and he is in Roosevelt Hospital with a fractured skull. Dr. Mac-Nider says Rooney has little chance of recovery. No. 772 Tenth-ave, is occupied by the Independent Friendship Club, and the license is held by Thomas Laughlin. It was while passing here that Rooney was held up by four men, One of them gave him a violent blow and he dropped. He was somewhat drunk and this dropped. He was somewhat drunk and this made him an easy victim. After riffing his pockets the men got away. John O'Donnell, of No. 46 West End-ave., witnessed the assault from the other side of the street. He gave the alarm and Policemen Thwaite and Farrell responded. They called an ambulance and had Rooney taken to the hospital.

One of his assailants is said to be a man known to the police as "Charlie." He is thirty-five years old, short and stout, with a light complexion. The police think they can arrest him soon. Rooney has been twice an inmate of Roosevelt Hospital as an attempted suicide. He has been out of the hospital only a short time.

MORE REFINED THAN MOST ROBBERS.

MRS. ROBERTS TALKS OF HER AND HER HUS-BAND'S EXPERIENCE WITH HIGHWAY-MEN IN THE BOULEVARD. All day long the police of the West One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st, station yesterday scoured the about One-hundred-and-forty-fourth-st. and the North River endeavoring to find some trace of the men who endeavored to hold up Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roberts, of One-hundred-and-seventyfirst-st, and the Boulevard, while they were driving at One-hundred-and-forty-third-st, and the Boulevard on Friday night. They have nothing at all to that any highwaymen were about, nor car vard on Friday night. They have nothing at all to indicate that any highwaymen were about, nor can they find any one who saw the men who answered to the meagre description given by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

According to the statement made by Mrs. Roberts yesterday, the robbers were more refined that highwaymen are generally supposed to be. She said both men appeared to be well dressed. The only thing that she was positive about, however, was that one of them was tall and the other was short. She noticed them as they were coming toward the phaeton from the curb. When the horse's check rein was grasped by one of the robbers and she saw the glint of the light on the barrel of the revolver, she screamed and fainted away. She says, however, that she was more in a dazed state than in a swoon. She declares that the volces of the men were well modulated. When the revolver was pointed at them, the robber, though emphatic, used better language than most highwaymen, she imagines, would use.

Mrs. Roberts said that she was so frightened by the robbers that she did not pay any attention to the mad dash of the horse up the Boulevard after the animal had got free from the hold of the robber, and that she did not realize how near she came to being dashed to pieces until after the thing was all over. Notwithstanding the exciting experience of Friday night, Mrs. Roberts was none the worse for it yesterday morning. She answered all questions put to her by the police cheerfully and with so ne animation. She seemed to regard the whole affair as a joke, and laughed heartily as she recounted many of the details which were the same as those given by her husband to the police.

NORDICA TO SING FOR WALTER DAMROSCH. It was announced last night that Messrs. Damrosch and Ellis have come to an understanding with Mme. Nordica will sing Brünnhilde in "Die Walkure," and "Götterdammerung." The contracts, it was said by Mr. Damrosch's representative last night, had not yet been signed, but they would be in all probability to-morrow.
